for three or four years, she returned only to ask for money, sell her body for drugs and lose her children to a state system.